

A Brief Introduction to Our List

In keeping with our commitment to the 'farm-to-table' concept, our wine list reflects the effort of producers and farmers that are as close to us as we can find. This wine list is evolving and changing, reflecting wines that we find identify an exemplary statement of the winemakers' craft and the grape variety. All our wines are VQA, we are proud to offer you, our guest, the very best wine that this land produces.

The following selections are among the finest produced in this province and have been painstakingly selected to enhance your experience and to complement your meal.

VQA Ontario Appellations of Origin

Mapping terroirs of distinction

Viticulture in Ontario is intimately and dynamically related to terroir – to a sense of place. The physical features of land and climate – the nuances of soil and sun; the minerality and taste characteristics of diverse landscapes – influence the choice of vine cultivars and viticultural practices across Ontario and create unique conditions for the production of grapes and wine. As wineries and winemakers cultivate, interpret and elaborate terroir through wine production, they in turn shape our tastes and interaction with the land. Ontario has so far identified three primary Viticultural Areas or appellations of origin: Niagara Peninsula, Lake Erie North Shore, and Prince Edward County.

White Wine

Chardonnay is the grape that produces the finest dry, white wines in the world and Ontario produces some of the finest Chardonnays on Earth. Although our production is limited; many of our top chardonnays, in their complexity and their sense of place, are the rival of many great wines from Burgundy, Australia and California.

The following selections are some of the examples of dry, white wine, and most are available only here.

White Wine

Not all Riesling is sweet. Many of these selections are completely dry with racy acidity and stark minerality. Some edge toward the sweet side, too. In Ontario, this grape thrives and provides winemakers with a palate of endless colours with which to paint.

We have some of the latest releases as well as selections from back vintages; Riesling often ages well, and we can prove it.

Red Wine

Few wine grapes reflect the concept of 'terroir' as well as the Pinot Noir. Pinot is sensitive to climate and soil, and when planted in the right place, it can deliver wines of unparalleled finesse and magnificent complexity. The climate and soils of Ontario's wine country nurture the Pinot Noir, such that it produces world-class wines in a wide assortment of styles in nearly every year that it is harvested.
